Clinical evaluation of hepatosplenic gamma delta T cells in patients with chronic liver disease. The numerical expansion of hepatosplenic gamma delta T cells is one of the most useful indicators of hepatocellular damage and inflammation. The aim of this study was to assess the value of hepatosplenic gamma delta T cells as a potential marker of disease severity in chronic liver disease. The percentages and numbers of CD3+ T lymphocytes, CD3+ CD4+ T lymphocytes, CD3+ CD8+ T lymphocytes, and CD3+ CD4+ gamma delta T lymphocytes in peripheral blood and liver samples of patients with chronic liver disease were evaluated by flow cytometry, and the correlations between CD3+ CD4+ gamma delta T cells and serum AST, ALT, and albumin levels were assessed. A significant increase in the percentage of CD3+ CD4+ gamma delta T cells was observed in the peripheral blood and liver of patients with chronic liver disease. However, there was no significant change in the numbers of CD3+ T lymphocytes, CD3+ CD4+ T lymphocytes, or CD3+ CD8+ T lymphocytes. The percentage of CD3+ CD4+ gamma delta T cells was significantly increased in patients with cirrhosis of the liver ( $p = 0.006$ ). In addition, serum ALT was inversely correlated with the percentage of CD3+ CD4+ gamma delta T cells in peripheral blood, but not with the percentage or number of CD3+ CD4+ gamma delta T cells in the liver. The data from this study demonstrate the presence of an enhanced percentage and number of peripheral blood CD3+ CD4+ gamma delta T cells in patients with chronic liver disease

Para Bellum (2022)

Welcome to Deutsche Bahn's second largest service, Hamburg S1 S-Bahn. Hamburg's S-Bahn, affectionately referred to as 'the Green Train', is the backbone of transport in the city. Here, you'll take control of the first Deutsche Bahn express locomotive in the HSW fleet, the HSW M3-112/114. From Cologne, Freiburg, Hanover, Rostock, Bremerhaven, Hamburg and a multitude of cities in-between, you'll be in the driver's seat to run a fleet of HSW's 'Euromaus' or 'Stadler', and their inner workings take you on an immersive journey into the realm of Deutsche Bahn's operations. Just like the 72 unit fleet of HSW M1 and M4 locomotives, the HSW M3-112/114 were built by the French rail manufacturer Alstom. The E3 prototype was the first to be ordered by the DB, with the first loco ready for service by December 1981. The first 12 locos were delivered by Alstom, the remaining 120 were purchased from the French and were to go to Danzas, Pannier, JT, TBG, DEs, MRS, SNCF, Prussian State Railways, Poli Hamburg and PZB. The prototype entered service as DR 62415 and number 12. All HSW M3-112 and 114 were painted in brown and yellow livery. Design wise, the locos are very similar. In Europe, they go by the name "Europa". Internally, they're identical, although they do have different tank heights. The prototype's engine was originally built for DR 62314 in 1979 by Siemens, the engine with three twelve cylinder engines was manufactured for the production locomotives. The prototype was never rebuilt so far. Screenshots About This Game Welcome to Deutsche Bahn's second largest service, Hamburg S1 S-Bahn. You play the role of a thief who must hunt for your stolen memories in the eerie depths of an abandoned construction site. You initially enter a site in the company of Moo, but soon realize that they've been using you as bait in a trap to catch two other thieves, Mor and Bel. As you roam through the maze-like site, your job is to find your stolen memories, which are beacons that guide you through the dark labyrinth, but be wary of the sinister, strange and even deadly creatures that haunt the construction site. How to play: There are 5 keys on the game, so you must combine the keys to progress further in the game. You can do that by simply tapping a matching key on each screen. However, to ensure that you don't lose anything, you should keep an eye on the direction of the key that is already blinking in that screen. A small light on that screen will tell you whether you have successfully combined those 2 keys or not. And that's it, you are on the good path to opening the gate. Have fun and keep your fingers crossed! If you like the game, please take a look at the similar game: Speed Control:
