We have fabricated optical particles with different structures in the Rayleigh regime of an optical tweezer. The polymer coating on the particles plays a key role for the manipulation process. These hybrid particles provide an interesting way to develop novel optical trapping techniques in order to achieve distinct optical properties. We show that the polymer coating on the particle surface significantly influences the scattering and the absorption properties. These novel particles are optically attractive and promise interesting applications, like new types of optical tweezers.NARTH National Association for Rational Therapeutics and Healthy Living is a 501(c)3 nonprofit organization, founded in 1983, with the goal of helping patients choose a course of medicine that best fits their needs. NARTH is not a "tribe" of physicians. Rather, NARTH seeks to create an inclusive forum for discussion and education among physicians and other healthcare professionals, researchers and patients. The organization is best known for its quarterly magazine, Rational Therapeutics, as well as for its quarterly conferences.
